DEMOCRATS FIGHTING FOR COVENANT IN MISSOURI.

Third Congressional District Election Brings Speakers of National Prominence.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS (Mo.) Feb. 9.—The National Democratic and the Democratic State committees must consider the contest in the Third Missouri Congressional District of vast consequences. Two Democratic candidates for the Presidency of the United States have arrived in the district—U. S. Atty.-Gen. Palmer and U. S. Senator Owens of Oklahoma.

The presence of Senator Owens might easily be accounted for on the ground that he is looking for votes in the national convention and Oklahoma is a neighboring State, but the Attorney-General of the United States would hardly have journeyed all the way here to deliver political addresses in small cities and have the elements and muddy roads to care one Congressional district to his party, for a few months at best, unless some greater move was at stake. Local political forecasters point to a heavy Republican vote for J. E. Frost, their nominee for Congressman, over Capt. J. C. Milligan, the League of Nations advocate. The election is to be held February 14.

Democratic orators, big and little, are coming into the district on every train. St. Louis has a contingent on the way here composed of Sen. Farley, Circuit Attorney Lawrence McDaniel, Judge F. A. Thompson and Col. Bennett Carr.

The Republican National Committee has assigned two Congressmen, Nevin McLaughlin of Nebraska and Walter Newton of Minnesota, to speak in this district next week. McLaughlin will deliver nine speeches in Worth, Gentry, Harrison, DeKalb, Clinton and Clay counties, and Newton will deliver nine speeches in Clay, Clinton and Dekalb counties.

G. L. Lowden of Illinois and Leonard Wood, Rep., are here.

These six candidates, in a series of public addresses before South Dakota voters, will seek to advance their respective candidates for selection as the standard-bearer of their parties in the approaching Presidential campaign.

The presence of so many aspirants for the Presidential nomination is expected to arouse the voters of South Dakota as they have never been before, with intense interest in the vote cast at the March primary election will be the keenest over even an election of this kind in South Dakota.

The new women voters, who, at the March primary, will have their first opportunity of casting the ballot for Presidential candidates, are taking an interest in the contest between rival Presidential candidates for the capture of the support of South Dakotans, and at the March primary will投出 their heavy vote.

Should the vote between rival candidates for President be very close, the new women voters may prove to be the determining factor.

Interest among the Republican voters of South Dakota continues to grow after the appearance of Mr. G. L. Lowden and Gov. Lowden to secure a plurality of the Republican votes cast at the March primary election.

With the support that no less than six candidates of the Republican and Democratic parties for nomination to the office of President will give South Dakotans, it appears that Gov. Lowden will carry South Dakota, but in conservative circles it is stated that as yet it is anybody's game.

CANDIDATES COMING.

The six candidates who will be in South Dakota prior to March 23 are: George D. Monroe of Chicago, and George W. Johnson, a member from Germany; Democrat; Senator Palmer; Senator Owenses.

GABARDINE COATS

We are told that we have the largest stock in Southern California of coats in this much-wanted fabric, in both foreign and domestic makes.

The styles are single and double breasted, with and without yoke. Some have inverted pleat in back. They are well made—cut large and are worn with or without belts.

Nothing better to wear while motoring or in unpleasant weather.

We are sure you will be greatly pleased with one of these very comfortable, smart-looking gabardines.

to consider pending military legislation and the suggestion has been made that a resolution be adopted committing the Democratic majority in Congress against the policy of general military training. In the present circumstances it would seem to me unfortunate that a position be taken upon this subject, particularly since within a few months the party will assemble in convention and make the decision upon which it deems it wise to commit itself in a national election. The present disturbed state of much concern with regard to America's obligations to allow as lightly to decide this question as possible on purely military grounds while the demonstrated advantage to the use of the country which such training affords, the war plainly suggests that in the national interest, quite apart from military considerations, the moderate opposition to the proposal of military training may have the highest possible advantages.

In our discussion of the subject we have referred to the general principle in favor of universal military training, previous suggested by the General Staff, and I would like to call your attention to appropriate members of the House who will attend the caucus to express their strong feeling against this measure. It is a measure which will tend to interfere with the arbitrary party determination to the consideration of which subject should be deferred until after the election of the members of the House, considering alike the national emergency which may confront us and other advantages which a system plainly promises for the young men of the country."

WILSON NOT CRITICISED.

Debate in the caucus reflected the President's stand. Representatives Kitchin, Flory and Dent were among those opposing acceptance of his argument.

After the caucus some of the Democrats frankly stated that their opposition was an assertion of their "independence" in the belief that they knew the sentiment of the country better than the President or the party leaders.

All Freak Deliveries Taboo in the Big Leagues; Baseball War to Begin Again

Light
headaches
and beautiful
homes

FOR a long time I had been having "headaches"—then I realized that most of them were caused by the end of the day's work and made my home nervous and tired. At first I blamed it on the heavy loads, and sat down to croakers and talk, with no result. I sat alone. But still my money came green, and my temples every afternoon.

One morning I woke down to go to an optician. But oddly enough, just when I had no headaches I was off. Again the next day I found myself, when 5 o'clock came, still chattering and wondering what had happened.

Just as I started for home, Thomas, the office manager, came in and said "How do you like our new lights?"

"What new lights?" I asked, "I hadn't noticed them."

"I don't wonder you haven't," he said, "we call them the 'shimmering' lights because you hardly know where the light is coming from. Look!" and he pointed overhead.

I looked up and saw that the shimmering light under which I had been working for months had become so pale that I could look directly at it without blinking. And yet the whole room was in bright shimmering sunlight.

As Thomas explained the new light I realized why my headaches were gone. He took me into our showroom, and showed me the new fixtures that had covered over my beautiful silk shades.

That night when I got home and went into the dining room, every lamp in the house seemed to hit at me right in the eye. I said to my wife with the remark, "I'm going to have these lighting fixtures."

"We're rich," said she promptly. "We now, we've got to have these new fixtures in the living room, and I can't get to have them torn up again." I explained that the lights I wanted could not go up in a few minutes. I told her about the difficult and dangerous task which could be undertaken to reach my curtains. And when she called up the electrician and he told the price she exploded like a bomb.

When I came home the next evening the lights were there. "Do you know," said my wife, "I don't believe we'll have to replace after all. This electrician makes it look so much better, and easier—and doesn't it fit into the tones of the furniture and everything?"

Electricians to the greatest advantage in lighting since the invention of the incandescent bulb. It has passed from giving a pale illumination of light and brilliant colors, with the results of both and the risks of neither. A curved series of fixtures to illuminate the light that spreads in all parts of the room—without glare, and without heavy shadows in dark corners. Through a few glass diffusing disc inserted luminosity is reflected below. For the first time it is possible to see in the house the true beauty, the more efficient and economical lamp ever known.

Silk, satinette, or parchment shades for a variety of designs and colors make Electricians an effective decoration for any room.

Write today for descriptive free booklet giving facts about good lighting, and showing many styles of decorative shades, cutlery, "Light Where You Want It."

"GASOLINE" ROW GOLF TOURNEY.

Big Auto Dealers Hit the Links this Afternoon.

Scene of Battle to be San Gabriel Country Club.

Play for Prize is to Continue for Four Days.

This is the day of days for the auto dealers of Los Angeles. This is the day for which the men along the roads have waited, for they have great golf possibilities here, and waiting for this. This is the day when reputations are to be made or marred.

For starting this afternoon at 1 p.m. on the links of the San Gabriel Country Club the first annual Auto-Dealers' Golf Tournament will get underway.

Each dealer has had gold tokens for the auto dealers. So have Sacramento, and other northern cities, but Los Angeles never. Today the one big smile on the city's fair name will be erased.

NO DUCK TOURNEY.

This is not to be a duck tournament, mind you. There are several machine peddlers with stations on Grand avenue and adjacent streets that are also mighty golfers.

Prominent among them is H. D. Bullock, 225 Tufts as an "A" man on Tim McGrath's proposed wrestling circuit, and a member of the Sun Gabriel club, and is being hailed by his friends as the winner of the big argument.

Then there is R. P. Felt, a "12" man of the Artesia Country Club; Fred Rutledge, "14" of San Gabriel; Leo Sauer, "14" of Brentwood, and many others.

CLINE ON JOB.

George Cline has volunteered to handpick all those who have not been so graced by the hard-working Tufts, peddlers.

The committee announced last night that the tourney will run for four days, all play to take place in the afternoon. The admission is 25 cents, and prizes will be made with George Cline up to 1 p.m. at the tee today.

The qualifying round will be played today, the first round tomorrow, the second on Thursday and the finale in all flights on Friday.

Enough players are expected to enter to make 100 flights of eight, 4 cups, which must be won three times for permanent possession. One will be offered as the first prize by J. Jerome Cawley. Then there will be a flight for the gross and best net qualifying round scores, and for the winners and runners-up in all flights.

THREE OLD-Timers IN SQUASH TOURNEY.

Three interested members of the Los Angeles Athletic Club in the squash sessions at Vernon, baseball men predict that before the season is over, two "senior old-timers" contests will be held.

They are Dr. Bea Friss, Wallace Dodge and Roy Neffage. They have been out of the game for 25 years and are planning a comeback.

KOREANS START OFFENS.

Armed by Russian Reds, Large Force Seizes Jap Post and Kills 300.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Official despatches received here today said and routed the remainder. According to these despatches the attack was the initiation of an active rebellion in Korea. It was described as "the beginning of a tremendous affair."

Several other clashes have occurred between the insurgents, the local Bolshevik forces in combination with the numerous bands of Chinese, began to invade Korea.

Three small Japanese divisions are in Korea, but it is said in Japanese circles that they have not gone so far as to sustain a battle, that they probably could offer little immediate resistance to an invasion.

News of the fighting did not come in a single wire despatch, but have indicated for some time that the revolutionary spirit was spreading in Korea, stimulated by Bolshevik activity. There are many Chinese brigands in the Manchurian and Siberian border regions with whom the Bolshevik organizations in Siberia have shown strong combination for the invasion of Korea.

Officials here have known for some time that many thousands of Koreans who fled into Manchuria were meditating hostile action against Japan. While there is no real Bolshevik feeling among these people, according to the despatches, they are showing hostility to the Japanese, that they probably are willing to join with any other elements in attacking them.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Northern Korea has been evacuated by the Japanese, it is claimed in a wireless dispatch from Moscow today, quoting an Omsk message. The population rose to aid Korean forces from China, which crossed the frontier.

The Omsk message, says as given in the Bolshevik wireless, says that on February 8, bands of Koreans, refugees in Chinese territory, crossed the frontier and attacked the Japanese. Massed of the population are joining the insurgents, it is added, the Japanese retreating and evacuating Northern Korea.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Thomas W. Lamont, of J. P. Morgan & Co., will leave Thursday for the Far East, as the representative of the American group of bankers who are part of the Chinese consortium, organized by banking groups in America, Great Britain, France and Japan, to assist the Chinese Republic in her public enterprises.

The official announcement of Mr. Lamont's intended departure made tonight stated that in behalf of the American group he will visit Japan, then proceed to China and will return to this country about June 1.

Mr. Lamont will be accompanied by Jeremiah Smith of Boston an advisory counsel and Martin Ryan of the Morgan firm as personal aid.

ORGANIZED IN 1918.

The present American banking group was organized in 1918 to deal with Chinese affairs. It is composed of more than thirty members representing leading banks and bankers throughout the country. At the suggestion of the State Department the international consortium was forwarded at a meeting in Paris May 12, last, representatives of the banking groups of Great Britain, France and Japan joined with the American group. Mr. Lamont, representing the American bankers, presided.

At that time general plans were made for the work of the consortium on these principles:

That no country should attempt to cultivate special spheres of influence.

That all existing options held by a member of any of the national groups should, so far as practicable, be turned into the consortium as a whole.

FOUR GROUPS AS ONE.

That the four banking groups of the countries in question should act in concert and in an effective partnership for the interests of China and that the consortium's activities should always be conducted with liaison to the Chinese Republic or to provinces of the republic or with loans guaranteed or officially having to do with the republic or its provinces and that any instance of conflict sufficient to warrant a public issue.

The banking representatives agreed that the operations of the consortium should not interfere in any respect with private operations in China, for development of individual, industrial, commercial and banking projects, but that where the national groups or their provinces or its provinces were concerned the consortium would attempt to act as a unit and lend its financial aid to China.

The constitution and general principles of the consortium were approved by the governments of the respective groups and Japan proposed representations in regard to certain portions of China, in which she feels she has particular interests.

Mr. Lamont is expected to take this question up with the Chinese bankers and learn definitely if they desire to enter into a working partnership with the other groups.

In the meantime, an emergency loan of $2,000,000 to China is reported to be in process of negotiation.

The membership of the American banking group includes the leading American institutions of New York City, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, San Francisco and New Orleans.

MUST SEND HOME ALL CHILDREN WITH COLDS.

INSTRUCTIONS TO TEACHERS IN FLU FIGHT WILL BE ISSUED TODAY.

All teachers and principals of the Los Angeles public schools will be notified this morning to send home all children suffering with colds or other indications of influenza. Supt. Dorsey was told by the Board of Education last night to issue these instructions. Children sent home under these conditions will not be readmitted to the schools without a certificate from one of the city health centers. Mrs. Dorsey's instructions to the teachers will contain a list of the centers.

Action was taken by the school board after a letter had been read from Dr. Herbert F. True, director of the school health division, who said: "The influenza situation in this city is not so favorable." He advised that the teachers be instructed to send all suspicious cases home, and also asked the board to prohibit the holding of assemblies.

These precautions are taken to prevent the spread of influenza. Doctors and health commissioners agree that it can be controlled through cooperation, and when they are suffering with bad colds, stay at home.

Mrs. Dorsey stated last night there was a number of cases of influenza in the city and many pupils are being kept out because of the disease and that a number of teachers are affected.

"If the parents will co-operate with the teachers in this, the health department there will be no need of closing the schools," she said.

URGE DEMOCRATS NOT TO "FIX" DELEGATES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Bernard W. Baruch, former chairman of the War Industries Board, in a statement tonight urged that un instructed delegations be sent to the Democratic National Convention at San Francisco. Mr. Baruch said he would not be a delegate himself; that he was not financing or backing any candidate for the convention and would vote "for the man who best represented good government."

Representative Democracy, he said, could best be served if each state sent a delegation and the convention should write the platform and then nominate the man best suited to carry it into effect.

The People and Their Troubles

DOROTHY DIX TALKS

Attentions Without Intention.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

I have received a letter from an irate young woman who says:

"What do you think of a man who takes up five years of a girl's time, coming to see her nearly every night, taking her to places, monopolizing her society, leading everybody to think that they are engaged when he's never so much as popped the question to her, and then goes away to live in another city without even saying good-by?"

I think that the man is a cad and a social dead-beat. But I think any girl who lets herself be treated that way is so silly that she ought not to be permitted to go around without a guardian. She should be locked up in an asylum for the feeble-minded.

There is no more difficult problem than girls have to face than that of what to do about the man who shows no support as a steady husband—one of the men who, as a lonely old woman once said to me, "Come and sit and sit, but never marry."

In every community, and in every grade of society, there are dozens of men who are professional beaux, so to speak, but who have no intention of ever marrying. They like feminine society, and evening after evening may be found enjoying the company of such women, but they have no room in their hearts for the honest man who would love them, and whom she might have loved, if it had not been for the man whose attentions were without intention.

All of us have seen beautiful attractive women who have once been beaux in society, but who do not marry, and as we see them drifting away from the men of their choice, we should know the answer, if we knew the girl's secret—that she gave all her love to the man whose delicate courtesy, whose tender touches, whose constant visits, took to mean love, and for whom she waited, and waited, and waited.

Strangely enough the working girl is particularly the victim of these men, and the ones who take for her living, is thrown intimately with men who find her, other than not bright, vivacious, and entertaining, and is a common custom for the men of the world to drop in two or three times a week for a visit to a young woman whom they know they will find amiable, when she is divorced from her husband as she is entitled to a pension as his widow.

Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing the Los Angeles Times Information Bureau, Frederic C. The offer applies strictly to information. The bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to be a complete guide, but will undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and include 2-cent stamp. Return postage and envelope are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Of course in discussing this question of a man's attentions to a girl, one must keep within the bounds of reason. A man can be expected to come to a woman the first time he calls upon her, nor would she desire it, but no honorable man should make his attentions a continuous performance, unless he has a good reason. In sporting parlance he should put up, or shut up after he has been visiting a girl for a few months. He should remember that youth is a precious commodity, and that he has no right to expect her to waste it upon him.

As far as the girl, they should reflect that if we don't look after our own interests, ourselves, no one is going to look after them for us, and after they have given a man a fair show, if he doesn't come back again, a good deal more than she should gently and quietly, but firmly, freeze him out.

There should be a time limit on courtship, and even a man should file a declaration of intentions with his attentions.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Q. What religious belief is most of having had the greatest number of Presidents? T. E. O.

A. Honors are equally divided between the Presbyterians and Episcopalians, each having had four Presidents of each creed.

The number of Presidents of other creeds are: Methodists, 4; Unitarians, 4;

Reformed Dutch, 2; Liberal, 1; Disciples, 1.

Q. Of our foreign-born population, what nationality ranks first in numbers? A. M. T.

A. The last compilation of our foreign-born population showed that there were more Germans than any other nationality. Of a total foreign-born population of 15,515,856, there were about 2,900,000 Germans. The Russians came second, with 1,300,000.

Q. What is the steamship fare from the United States to Danzig, Poland? J. G.

The fare from New York to Danzig, Poland, is: First class, $300;

second class, $156; third class, $106.

Q. How much money did John McCormack raise when he turned into the Red Cross during the war? S. F. C.

A. The American Red Cross says that McCormack raised about $100,000 for the Red Cross during the war.

Q. Can the divorced wife of a Civil War veteran obtain a pension from the government? C. H.

A. The Pension Bureau says that if a woman was divorced from her husband as she is entitled to a pension as his widow.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Boost to Landlords.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8.—To the Editor of The Times:—I Arthur Randall's statements about landlords in your issue of February 6 is a boost rather than a knock for us, especially in such a small space as a room or an apartment.

As to showing marriage certificates. This is a very good idea. Many large cities find a system of this kind beneficial.

Tenants could then secure low leases from tourists and many other rovers. Furthermore there are many apartment-houses, flat buildings, and rooming-houses that would gladly consent to a body of people that desire to make a joint purchase. Perhaps these people who seem so much abused would run right to them.

If they had possession, but responsibility is not what the abused tenants are looking for.

Yours truly,
EARL PAGE.

About the Fakirs.
Editor of The Times:—I am sincerely hoping that the expose of methods of such fakirs as Clark and Helen Mayo, heads of the so-called California studio, as ably depicted in your issue of Saturday, will result in the elimination of these vampires from our city.

Nine out of ten of them are conducted by impudent crooks who prey upon this ambition of the unscrupulous of the unsophisticated.

Many large cities find a system of

of smashing window panes were universally adopted when burglars are discovered in a home, it would not only save one's money but would also act as a general alarm

for the immediate neighborhood to be up and doing. It is a cinch that crooks would want to make their escape at the time where such an alarm is sounded. The breaking of a window pane during the quiet hours of the night can be heard for quite a distance and let it once occur and realize that it is a sign of alarm that begins to ring, and inciting many a crook would find his avenue of escape blocked by neighbors, who like shooting yet and beside the noise may have a tendency to arouse the slumbering cul who is seldom aware of the visitors.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 9.—To the Editor of The Times:—I am always a staunch admirer of Douglas Fairbanks' pictures. Even if Margaret K. Tripp thinks him a dead one, and if that ear-to-ear grin were used on tooth powder

advertisements, my room walls

were decorated with it,

as his wonderful smile has driven away many a bad case of blues.

I have lived in Los Angeles nearly four years, and my great disappointment is that I have not seen

Douglas Fairbanks.

Why, if I had his smile, could do his stunts, and draw his salary, I would feel life worth while.

I understand and enjoy

athletics we also understand and enjoy Douglas Fairbanks.

Oh, well, every knock is just another step higher. Why not give the flowers to the living? I say "live and let live," so here is all together

"three cheers for Douglas Fairbanks."

SOCIETY.

BY VIRGINIA WOODS

Mrs. John Percival Jones, just back from New York, was greeting old friends at the Sunday afternoon tea, which Mr. and Mrs. Hancock Banning gave for her. It was a sort of good-by on her part as she is leaving for the state of California. Her friends will rejoice to learn, she will not tarry long, as she is to return in three or four weeks.

The tea was about forty-five guests present, including Mrs. Carter H. Harrison, wife of the former Mayor of Chicago, who was very chatty. Mrs. John Hood Iden, wife of the first person ever to look as beautiful as ever and so was Mrs. Chauncy Shackford, wife of the Shackford, Mr. Tevis, formerly of San Francisco, and Mr. Lounsherry of New York came in for a good deal of attention, too.

By Mrs. Thompson.

Mr. William K. Thompson was a luncheon guest of Saturday, entertaining at the California Club. Plates were set for Mrs. E. T. Earl, Mrs. Mary Banning Norris, Mrs. Thomas Banning, Mrs. William Bannister, Mrs. Estelle Caldwell, Mrs. John Percival Jones, Mrs. Hancock Banning, Mrs. C. C. Carpenter and Mrs. Walter Brunner.

The Harrisons Here.

Former Mayor Carter H. Harrison and Mrs. Harrison of Chicago are in the city, visiting his brother, Mr. William Preston Harrison, in the Sunbeam Place. Mrs. Preston Harrison is not yet home, having been called East by the sudden death of her mother. She will be home, however, early this week. The two brothers have been each other for two years, during part of which time Mr. Carter Harrison has overseen the operations of the Red Cross in active field service. Mr. and Mrs. Carter Harrison are no strangers in California, having spent several winters in Pasadena between 1908 and 1910. They are being much feted.

The soviet government has seized all the gold and silver in Russia. There isn't any gold whatever in the hands of private banks or individuals. Where it was necessary the government gave its printed notes in exchange, but it got the gold somehow.
It is therefore impossible to form any combination with money enough to combat the Bolsheviks. The only money in circulation depends upon Lenin and Trotsky for its stability. If they fly, they take the gold with them. If they fall, the paper money of the people becomes valueless.
These conditions form their entrenchments.
God help Russia.THE LAY OF THE HEN.
The little brown hen pauses in the midst of her activities to remark that six years ago her eggs were selling at a slightly higher figure than they are today. At that time she was paying 80 cents for rolled barley and about $1.50 a hundred for wheat. Now she has to pay at the rate of something like $2.00 for barley and $4.00 for wheat. Her cost of living has increased four hundred per cent, while the price of her own product has slightly shumped.
There was another slight advance in grain this month and at the same time eggs dropped a little. The hen isn't organized like the profiteers or else her product would be on sale at the jeweler's counter.A SPINDLE-LEGGED DEPT.
A Gompers and the American Federa-dates for office this year are to be subjected to the labor-union third degree.This is a poor year for political picketing.

Any national or State candidate for office who brings before labor unions this year will be a poor stick indeed, and if elected will be of such plant material that even the labor unions will find him useless.The country has gone through a saturnalia of strikes, and the labor unions have been repeatedly and crushingly defeated.
They were defeated by the people, without whose sympathy no movement can prosper. The labor unions have colluded
with Russian Reds, and they have threatened,
and in some instances practiced
sabotage. And they have made millions suffer in this country, but the suffering has not been in vain. The labor unions were never weaker and never talked louder
at present.A country that administered the finishing wallop to the Kaiser will have little
fear of union-labor despotism in politics.

SINN FEIN TERRORISM.

Americans of all shades of opinion
have condemned the cruelties of the Bolsheviki. Men in this country, of varying nationality, Irish, French, English, Norwegian, Italian, Spanish, have used strong terms in expressing their disapprobation of methods used in Russia. Now comes a report from Ireland that the Sinn Feiners have adopted terrorism as part of their programme against the hated English. The De Valeraites have copied Russian tactics.Therefore those of Irish descent in this country who have so roundly condemned the Lenin and Trotsky butchers will, of course, be equally full of wrath against the murderous Sinn Feiners.Men who aim to force an Irish republic on a world which shows little desire for an Irish Republic are an absurdity.For the Sinn Feiners have a number of members of murders to their discredit already and have adopted a programme which means there will be more. That programme includes an end to all police force because the men are guilty of the heinous crime of killing their prey.Already fifteen members of the Irish constabulary have been killed by Sinn Feiners. The De Valera men showed their savagery by shooting their victims in the back. The Sinn Feiners didn't want to kill their own citizens, skins to the dead at the police force hiding places.In addition to sending out notices declaring that every policeman is "deemed to have deserted his life," because paid by England,
Sinn Fein leaders have ordered that doctors and nurses officials who in any way
assist in obtaining information against any Irish citizen for use against him "may be executed on sight as common outlaws."
These crimes are approved by men who call themselves friends of Ireland and who fenounce similar outrages in Russia as the work of savages.

HERBERT HOOVER'S POSITION.
Herbert Hoover has refused to bind himself in advance to "undesired partisanship." He has declared his intention to "exercise a prerogative of American citizenship and decline to pledge my vote blindfold." He asserts that, if the League of Nations should become an issue in the campaign, "I must stand for the party that stands for the League." This statement is not the kind that a candidate generally makes who is seeking the nomination of some particular party. But Mr. Hoover says unequivocally, "I am not seeking and have not sought the Presidency; I am not a candidate."

Some politicians will construe this statement to mean that because Mr. Hoover will not make a personal campaign for a Presidential nomination, he should not and cannot be nominated. Because he declines to bind himself months in advance to accept the platform of any particular party or group, they assert that he is not entitled to a party nomination.

The Times must admit that great Republicans have been more outspoken in the past; but the declaration of principles which Mr.
Hoover makes in his statement cannot leave the question of his party affiliations
in much doubt.

A man who has reached the age of 45 without having ever voted the Democratic ticket is justified in resenting
the implication that he is a Democrat.

There was a time when men considered it necessary to make a parade of their party fealty. David B. Hill's declaration that "I am a Democrat" was very much in vogue in his day; but the world has moved since that time and party lines in this country have become blurred and in places, a bit indistinct. The trend of the times has been to strongly towards those things for which the Republican party has stood that its principles have received a general acceptance that makes them patriotic rather than partisan.

The Democratic party has been the party of vaccination. In the last decade of the nineteenth century it was strong among workers. The series of defeats administered to it by an electorate that refused to be stampeded into the abandonment of American principles caused it to careen back until in 1904, its platform was much more conservative than that on which Roosevelt was nominated and elected. Wilson was elected in 1912 on a platform which he was one of the first to repudiate. In 1916 the Democrats ignored their own platform and carried a number of States in which the women voted on the cry, "He kept us out of war."

The fact that it was being actively or technically at war during the whole of Wilson's second term, less the Democratic party without a record this year available for a platform. It has been suggested that they might nominate Wilson again and make their battle cry, "He kept us out of war."

As far as traditions or principles are concerned, the Democratic party is dead.

It has come to a point where a change after office is as impossible as that of a despairing spinster after a husband.

All the Democratic politicians want are spells of office.

Such a campaign as that would be wholly repugnant to one who looks upon life and government with the clear vision of Herbert Hoover. He gives assurance that he would leave no third party movement, saying, "I do not believe in more than two major parties. That is explicit in relation to the organization of a new party. He makes himself equally clear in regard to the League of Nations. If certain politicians in the Republican ranks should succeed in capturing the Republican National Convention and adopting a platform in opposition to the League of Nations, Mr. Hoover would not accept a nomination from that party, neither would he vote for its candidate.

Mr. Hoover is equally explicit in relation to Socialism. He is most ardently opposed to Socialism in all of its forms.

They were defeated by the people, without
whose sympathy no movement can
prosper. The labor unions have colluded
with Russian Reds, and they have threatened,
and in some instances practiced
sabotage. And they have made millions
suffer in this country, but the suffering has not been in vain. The labor unions were
never weaker and never talked louder
at present.

A country that administered the finishing wallop to the Kaiser will have little
fear of union-labor despotism in politics.

The Way to Beat 'Em.

MAKE HASTE SLOWLY.

MFinancial experts have reached the almost unanimous conclusion that the country is suffering from an exaggerated prosperity. We have been going ahead so fast during the last three years that we have not stopped to strengthen the positions already won; and the far-seeing economist points out that such constantly accelerating speed is only maintained when one is going down hill.

Prosperity was formerly measured by the increasing demand for American products and the attendant rise in prices. We have made progress along that line beyond the wildest limits that the imagination formerly conceived. New York City has suddenly become the financial hub of the universe. There is a demand for American products, even at prevailing prices, that, in some instances, is more than treble the supply. To meet this demand credit has been expanded past the safety point. The unreliability of American business is almost unbelievable; but the greater the expansion
the greater the demand for more.

Making progress at the rate of a mile a minute is a dangerous experiment. There is bound to come a time when our enthusiasm will carry us so far that we shall have to walk back. When the wind rises to a gale and the waves are running high the experienced yachtsman reefs sail and seeks shelter from the storm. He has learned to watch the barometer and to measure the velocity of the winds. In the midst of the present gale of progress and prosperity some of the prudent men of the universe are slowing down.

All the countries of the world have been swept by a high wind of radicalism. Conservative business methods have been cast aside as too slow to meet present day requirements. Conservative governments have fallen or have been compelled to fight for their existence. The very term, "conservative," has been used as a word of reproach. But it is the experience of all people that what radicalism starts conservatism alone can finish. The radical has had a day. Both business and government have been thrown out of the old beaten path, thrown too far for safety. The collapse of foreign exchange is convincing proof that European business and finance lost themselves in the bushes and are gropeing for the path back to safety. But there are indications that American labor and industry are also going astray. There has been too much expansion and too little consolidation. Natural laws are beginning to rebel; and the unwritten laws of nature are not to be changed by man-made decrees.

The Times does not advocate that all expansion should stop, that there should be no embarking in new business projects; but it sees the danger of reckless adventures in making haste slowly, to test the planks of the new bridge before trusting our full weight upon them. Money is more plentiful than ever before in the history of the country. It is about the cheapest thing in the American market; but this does not mean that the supply shall always be equal to that of today and yesterday. We are indulging in extravagance that would have wrecked the country a few years ago.

Many of our people have wandered far from the faith of our fathers, have forgotten that such things as thrift and economy ever existed. How far and fast we have travelled on the road of extravagance is well illustrated by comparing the Federal administration under Wilson with that of Jefferson. During the eight years that Jefferson was President the average total expenditure of the Federal government was $25,000,000 a year. The estimated Federal annual expense for the calendar year 1929 is $14,000,000 a day. The government purchase for clerks and other petty office-holders
in the city of Washington alone now totals nearly $1,000,000 a day. It has been troubled in six years.

How is it done? A great deal of the expense represents borrowed money. The Democratic idea of financing is similar to that of the Irish constabulary which was killed by Sinn Feiners. The De Valera men
showed their savagery by shooting their victims in the back. The Sinn Feiners didn't want to kill their own citizens, skins to the dead at the police force hiding places.

In addition to sending out notices declaring that every policeman is "deemed to have
deserted his life," because paid by England,
Sinn Fein leaders have ordered that doctors and nurses officials who in any way
assist in obtaining information against any Irish citizen for use against him "may be

Who swallows where the Congo skies.

For now they say he may not wave.

His hand at wayside country girls.

No move the joyous engineer.

May give two toots in passing.

Sally;

No more Jane Simpkins' neighbors
hear.

Her frenem ring long Simpkins' alleys.

Trainmen must now remain sedate

At dusk post as belted ears

Before their mail in hours of state.

They may not wave at country girls.

It is altogether unbecoming to envy these pilgrim to green groves and golden shores, especially when we can't even afford to buy a ticket.

What though our California Sol

The landscape tints with golden beauty

The one discordant strain of duty

Hath rendered all strains else

cordant;

His lip in cycle seems he curse;

What wonder if his mood grow

mordant.

HOME GARDENS TO FIGHT H.C.L.

War-Time Association Opens New Campaign.

Seeds to be Distributed for Back-Yard Planting.

City Council may be Asked to Pay for Plowing.

The Home Gardens Association, under whose auspices hundreds of home and community gardens were successfully planted in the city and suburbs during the war, has opened a campaign to enable the high cost of living by encouraging residents in all parts of the city to utilize back yards and vacant lots for the purpose of growing their own vegetables.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Home Gardens Association composed of Councilman Walter Mallard, Park Commissioner William M. Bowes and Mrs. J. T. Anderson, chairman of the Council of Community Service, plans were made for the distribution of seeds in all parts of the city. The campaign will be speeded by the distribution of $500 worth of seed, which will be sent to various leaders in the city, and to areas where there are representatives of the Council of Community Service.

The purpose of the campaign, says Mrs. Anderson, is to attack the high cost of living problem from the production standpoint. That it can be accomplished successfully is shown by the records made by the war gardens and victory gardens in the city during the last two years. Thirty-one institutions in Los Angeles are putting out gardens under authority of the Home Gardens Association, and reports are expected by the committee as to what these institutions have accomplished. The records of amateur gardeners during the war were very favorable. Not only did they produce enough vegetables to supply their own families, they produced a surplus for sale in the public markets.

It has also been the purpose of the Home Gardens Association to remove families from the congested districts of the city to the suburbs, where gardens can be raised. Through the assistance of the real estate market, many families have been moved to outlying parts of the city during the last year. The association hopes to develop this feature of its work, for as a result of its help in the food problem for many families, but it also offers a solution to the housing problem.

Confronting the Home Gardens Association is the problem of securing irrigation water for the community gardens and obtaining sufficient water for irrigation purposes. For the purpose of raising funds to pay for piping, it is proposed that a campaign be made to call on the City Council for an appropriation of funds, and the water problem can be solved by the reduction of the water rates which have been granted to the association by the city during the last two years. Mrs. Anderson said. A recent survey of the eastern and southern part of the southwestern sections of the city which was made by the Home Gardens Association revealed that more than 40 per cent of the plots are still under cultivation. It is hoped through this campaign to get back to the war record.

"It is our hope," said Mrs. Anderson, "that the general organization of the city administration or private interests will offer a premium for the best family garden and the best garden of an institution which is in this class. We want to arouse interest in home gardening, to create some competition, and above all else, to increase the production of food and to effect a substantial reduction in cost of living."

Grants will be given out upon request by the following institutions which are working in co-operation with the Home Gardens Association: Settlement House, Los Angeles; Boyle Heights Library, Neighborhood Settlement House, Johnson Apartments, Clinton Building Company, Vermont Square Library, Maud Booth Home, McKinley Industrial Home, Episcopal Clothiers Bureau, Big Brothers Settlement House, El Pueblo and the following schools: Castalia street, Ann street, Macy street, East Ninth, East Seventh, Alpine, Bridge and Hewitt.

LIVINGSTON DIVORCE SUITS ARE DISMISSED.

HUSBAND SAYS DRAFT EVASION LITIGATION COST HIS FAMILY $100,000.

Judge Wood paved the way to dismissing the three suits of Ben and Florence Livingston yesterday by declaring in the divorce action of Florence against Ben that the family was not sufficient to grant Mrs. Livingston a decree. During recess the attorneys sat together and asked the court later to dismiss the case, and the motion was granted, and the motion was granted.

During the testimony of Ben Livingston, he told the court that the government and civil litigation in the divorce action was not sufficient to grant Mrs. Livingston a decree. During recess the attorneys sat together and asked the court later to dismiss the case, and the motion was granted.

Besides the divorce action, there was being tried in one of the other suits one by Florence against Ben for money, and one by Ben against Florence to quiet title to property which she claimed as her separate property.

ANGELO FOUND DEAD.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Harry A. Alcher, 41, chairman of the Elks Lodge, was found dead in bed yesterday at the Elks' Club, 108 West Forty-third street, where he had been staying for several weeks. Dr. Dyer of Bellevue Hospital reported the case as one of heart disease. Mr. Alcher had been under the care of a physician for some time.

We drove to Redwood City. We would not let anyone go without a thought or wish. Or notion of retreat. We served our time with "frat."

And left the last night we were. Diplomas passed in our hands. Now, three days at a time. We place the food menu in the telephone book. And figure what we can eat.

For portions, we are a better lot. But though we are a better lot. And figuring with a smile. Some nifty maidens with a smile. Given her check register. And proves we can't do.

OLD SOLDIERS ARE VICTIMS.

Ralph Arnold Finds Strong Feeling in Oil Fields.

People Want President Who Can Get Things Done.

Angeleno Planning Personal Appeal for Candidacy.

Dr. Ralph Arnold of this city noted geologist and petroleum engineer, who is a close friend and former college mate of Herbert Hoover and who left last week for New York via the oil fields of New Mexico and Texas, writes to associates in Los Angeles that he will call on Mr. Hoover at Washington and personally urge him to yield to the demand for his candidacy.

Dr. Arnold, who is maintaining offices with Mr. Hoover, both in New York and London, states that he will endeavor to have the oil fields of the Southwest to call on Mr. Hoover to authorize the movement to make him a candidate. On a trip across the continent with Mr. Hoover, he and his wife, when the latter was returning to Palo Alto, to spend the holidays with his family, Dr. Arnold made good use of the time in writing his traveling companion to say his thoughts on the subject. He noted that when I write every success and when I return next month, I hope I can have a personal word from Mr. Hoover that will bring you joy.

MANY ON CENSUS JOB.

Thirty Motorizing Inspectors Check Out More Cars Needed.

Thirty Inspectors, operating in Automobiles, were busy yesterday with the final check-up of the census in this city. The offices of the census bureau were open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. and the inspection of all motor vehicles was made.

It is the first time that one of our members has been considered for the Presidency. We are taking a certain amount of time to consider him.

He recognizes that engineering as well as law may lead to statesmanship.

Engineers are proverbially poor speakers.

As engineers we have always taken pride in the man of action with whom we have done the most.

As engineers we have done the most.

Concerning Epidemics

In Epidemics the germ fastens most readily on fruitful soil—a system that is in poor condition.

Stoppage of food waste, and the resulting decay, generates poisons which are absorbed by the blood, lowering its power of resistance to withstand the attack of outside germs such as influenza.

In plain terms, constipation encourages Epidemics.

If you keep your intestinal passage clear and functioning regularly to get rid of this waste, your system will be kept in good condition to successfully cope with disease germs to which you may be exposed.

That is what the Nujol Treatment does—without straining, and without drawing on the vitality of other parts of the body, as do other forms of treatment.

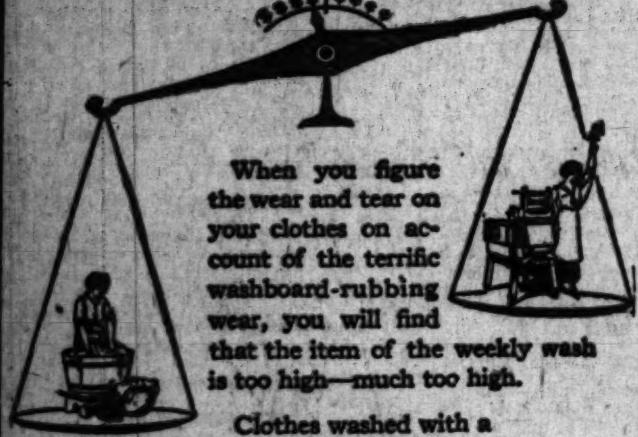

In plain terms, Nujol discourages constipation and its dangerous consequences.

Keep your body clean inside with the Nujol Treatment. It is the best possible Sickness Prevention.

Nujol is sold by all druggists in bottles bearing the Nujol Trade Mark. These bottles are represented to be "the same as Nujol." You may order from substitutives.

Address Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), 50 Broadway, New York, for valuable health booklet, free. "Thirty Feet of Danger."

GREAT OLD REMEDY FOR SKIN DISEASES

S. S. S. Clears Skin of Eruptions—Drives Poison From the System.

Get it fixed in your mind that skin eruptions, eczema, burning skin, and all skin diseases are due entirely to impure and infected blood. If the trouble was on the outside of the skin, by simply washing and keeping it clean you could obtain relief—not even ointments, lotions and salves would be necessary. Agree with us in this belief and your trouble can be relieved—you can be entirely restored to health. S.S.S. is a purely vegetable treatment that you can secure from your druggist. Fifty years ago S.S.S. was discovered and given to suffering mankind. During this period it has proved its remarkable medicinal properties and has relieved many of disease caused by poor blood. You can be relieved, but you must use S. S. S. Then it will prove a great blessing, for they do not bad blood, and may be followed by the sufferings from torturing skin eruptions. Therefore be sure. Don't take chances, don't use lotions. If yours is a special case, write for expert medical advice. Address Medical Director, 255 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.—(Advertisement).

CITY ENGINEER HANSEN DEAD.

Difficult Construction Work to His Credit.

Came from Denmark as a Lad with Parents.

Marked Ability Won Position in Los Angeles.

Andrew Christian Hansen, City Engineer of Los Angeles since July 11, 1924, died at the family residence, 4925 Glendale Street, yesterday, after an illness of about three weeks. Funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

Mr. Hansen, who was 40 years of age, was born in Denmark, but came to America with his parents when 11 years of age. They located near Selma, and after an education in the public schools the youth took a course in civil engineering in the University of California, graduating in 1902.

His professional work began immediately thereafter, with the United States reclamation service, and he was detailed to duties on both the Bismarck and Fumas projects. Later he was engaged on a large power project in the Colorado River.

In 1915, when the outfall sewer was being constructed from the city of Hyperion, the contractors struck an artificial rock formation known as Ingleside, and then abandoned the contract, declaring it was impossible to build the sewer. The Board of Public Works placed upon Mr. Hansen the task of finding another responsible engineer to complete the work, and he chose Mr. Hansen for the task.

Mr. Hansen was transferred to the Los Angeles Aqueduct construction work, and placed in charge of the Jawbone division, one of the most difficult and dangerous sections.

When this work was completed he went back to the engineering department of the city and was assigned to the engineering office, which place he held until the street and engineering departments were consolidated, when he became chief deputy City Engineer, serving in that capacity until his retirement as City Engineer on the retirement of Homer Hamlin, July 11, 1917.

Mr. Hansen's only daughter, Gertrude, died a few weeks ago. His wife died, and soon after his elder daughter, Gertrude passed away. One brother, Hans Hansen, is still living.

The City Hall flag will be at half-mast today, in memory of Mr. Hansen.

FIRE INSURANCE BOARD SEEKS BIG CONVENTION

ENTIRE COAST AIDS FIGHT TO BRING NATIONAL BODY TO LOS ANGELES.

A vigorous campaign is being waged by the Los Angeles Fire Insurance Agents Association to bring the twenty-fifth anniversary convention of the National Association of Insurance Agents to Los Angeles this fall. No date has been set for the convention, but it probably will be held in September or October, possibly in connection with the meeting of the State insurance commissioners. Nearly 2000 persons are expected to attend the convention, including representatives from every State.

The campaign to bring the convention to Los Angeles is receiving the active support of civic and insurance organizations throughout the Pacific Coast. The Pacific States and the States in the Interoceanic mountain district. Insurance organizations supporting the movement include all the local fire insurance companies, the Pacific Insurance Association, the Pacific Board of Fire Underwriters, Fire Underwriters' Association of the Pacific, Firemen's Exchange of San Francisco, and the Insurance Association of California. Special Agents Association of the Pacific Southwest.

Civic Organizations backing the movement include the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles, Mayor Ralph of San Francisco, Insurance Commissioner Alexander, and numerous other officials of Coast and interior cities, together with many rotary clubs, credit men's associations and the fire prevention bureau of the city.

Gov. Stephens, Mayor Snyder of Los Angeles, Mayor Ralph of San Francisco, Insurance Commissioner Alexander, and numerous other officials of Coast and interior cities are using their influence to bring the big convention to Los Angeles.

The national convention of fire insurance men has been held West of the Rocky Mountains, the last convention having met in 1924 at Louisville, Ky. Convention will be held in Atlanta, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Cleveland, Richmond, Va., all eastern and southern cities.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE IS

TALLY'S BIG LURE

Two Weeks—Constance Talmadge's picture at Tally's Broadway

this week is not really a comedy

but it is a comedy.

It's a sort of younger sister

to "A Virtuous Vamp," but once

more Connie irresistibly.

The story is a delightful one even if belonging to the realm of fairy tales.

It's all about a charming girl who falls in love with a dandy

and runs away from a haughty man who was willing to back her in a show for a consideration.

Of course you sophisticated know that I wasn't born yesterday.

So she set her little head

to work to win him over, and did

it too.

Though straight,

Connie did some very, very unconventional things, like going in bathing in her pajamas and landed plum in the home of three crabby bachelors who didn't like ladies as a rule, but couldn't resist Connie.

The author, played delightfully by Conway Tearle. He didn't take any stock in Connie's talk.

It's an entertaining picture, with

Miss Talmadge achieving her usual delightful work.

The settings are excellent. George Fawcett plays one of the old bachelors in his usual whimsically comical manner, so if you're anything else to recommend the picture, Miss Talmadge's first appearance as Goova should not be missed.

MISS DE LA MOTTE

WINS STAR HONORS.

I know one little lady of filmdom who is booked for star honors. If I don't miss my guess. Her name is Marguerite de la Motte, and she is an actress.

LATEST NEWS OF FOOD PRICES.

Market for Potatoes Weak and Price of Spuds is on the Decline.

Local wholesalers and jobbers of potatoes admit that the market for this staple commodity is very weak, and that under the high prices which have prevailed during the past three weeks, the demand, on the part of the consumer, has not gone off sharply.

From a price of 3¢ per hundred wholesale reached early in January, potatoes have declined to 5¢ per hundred-weight for fancy Stockton Burbanks, with many dealers offering potatoes as low as 3¢ 65 per hundred-weight at the present time. To some extent prices have declined in the retail markets of the city, but the price fall has not been so sharp, since many dealers have bought at the higher level and cannot reduce their prices to the consumer very materially without taking a loss.

Unless the demand from the public increases, it is admitted that prices will continue to decline, both in the wholesale and retail markets. Retail prices at present show a wide range: some dealers are offering good Burbanks at about 6 cents per pound, while others are retailing them at the old price of 8 cents per pound.

SUGAR—There is a legitimate shortage of sugar due to crop conditions in Cuba and strikes in Hawaii, when the supply is limited in the year and it is possible to estimate the sugar beat output a little closer there may be a slight decline, but there is nothing imminent in sight.

AN AUTOMOBILE—Practically every dealer sees anticipates a price advance within three months. They do not undertake to say how great the increase will be, but 7 to 10 per cent is a fair average estimate.

STEEL—Practically every dealer sees anticipates a price advance within three months. They do not undertake to say how great the increase will be, but 7 to 10 per cent is a fair average estimate.

CANNED GOODS—There will be no decrease in the cause which has produced the present high prices are corrected. These are said to be inflated currency and decreased production, together with record indifference and lack of economy in the manufacture of the product. There must be more intensive development and increased production.

SHOES—Production has been slowing down instead of being kept up, while the retail demand has not been affected by the holidays. Retailers are better, but under normal conditions the industry is spending production and accumulating surpluses no material price reductions may be anticipated.

CLOTHING—Manufacturers report a steady free hand movement, better labor market and slightly increased production. A reduction in clothing may be anticipated, but not immediately. Spring stocks have been put away, realizing the necessity of speeding production and accumulating surpluses no material price reductions may be anticipated.

DRUGS—Supplied short, and augmented demand due to influenza conditions will keep prices of standard drugs at their present or even higher levels. Quinine, camphor, menthol, alcohol, and antipyrine are among the most wanted supplies. There appears to be plenty of coal-tar products on hand.

FLOUR—Wheat demand is diminished. A car of 50 cents per barrel was made last week, and government flour is having a tendency to stabilize the market. Further declines are probable, but the price of flour will be affected until these declines average $2 per barrel.

MILK—Depends largely upon rainfall during the next few weeks. Prices have been retarded because of lack of moisture, and dry feed is very high and does not make for production. Under normal conditions there should be a reduction by April 1.

BUTTER—The same conditions apply. Production is not keeping pace with increasing demand. A seasonably low price was held for weeks, but if there should be a continued drought this will not materially affect the market.

EGGS—On a declining level. Production is increasing and they will be cheaper.

VEGETABLES—Gardens in good condition and production likely to exceed that of last year. Probabilities are that standard vegetables will be somewhat lower in 1919-20 than in 1918.

It was a typical blue Monday. The weather was depressing, the market irregular, and even in the shopping

EARNINGS

EARNINGS of the California Packing Corporation for the year ending February 28th, 1920, after deduction of expenses and taxes, will be substantially in excess of the best previous year, when $1 a share was earned on the Common Stock. Indications for the current fiscal year point to billings in excess of $75,000,000. Most conservative indeed is the present dividend rate, recently increased from $4 to $6 a share.

To capitalize the Good Will valuation of such a brand name as "Del Monte" would be above criticism. Yet so conservative is the Corporation's policy that all such intangible factors as good-will, trademarks, etc., have never been capitalized for even a single cent.

In recommending California Packing Common, we believe that this stock possesses inherent value, assured earning power, and an attractive opportunity for price appreciation. All essentials regarding the issue are set forth in our detailed analysis.

UNION OIL PROFITS SOAR.

Net $10,600,000 for Last Year, Equal to Twenty-four Per Cent. on Stock.

The annual report of the Union Oil Company made public last evening reveals for California's great oil corporation a successful and prosperous year during which values are conserved and enhanced, business developed, production increased and satisfactory profits realized. The company goes into 1922 with the strongest financial and business position it has yet enjoyed, according to the report.

Profit from operation for 1919 is shown to be $26,523,457.40, an increase over the preceding year of $6,167,782.77. After deductions the net profit is shown to be $10,628,253.16, an increase of $4,815,113.91. Before deducting depreciation this profit was equivalent to 37 per cent. of the company's outstanding capital as compared with 26 per cent. for 1918, and after deducting depreciation the profit was 24 per cent. compared with 14 per cent. for the preceding year, according to the report.

Following are interesting highlights from the voluminous report issued by the officers of the company, directors and signed by W. L. Stewart, president, and H. D. Mayhew, comptroller:

General charges were $2,627,411.38, an increase of $669,541.13 due largely to increased costs of land transportation, increased distribution of a share of profits to employees, which amounted to $149,152.

Production for the year was 8,750,447 barrels an increase of 5.1-4 per cent. The total quantity of oil handled by the company was 22,600,000 barrels or more than 20 per cent. of the total output of oil in the State. The State production shows a decrease of 750,000 barrels.

Sales for the year amounted to $5,360,026.15 an increase of 22 per cent. The value of fuel purchased by the company was $1,000,000 and labor cost $1,100,000.

The company has eighteen strings of tools operating in the Richfield district, and forty-nine strings, alternating, in the areas in Texas, Wyoming and Mexico.

During the year 10,000 acres were added to the property, the oil territory of the company principally in Kern and Tulare counties, and including 200 acres south of Los Angeles and 17,000 acres in Kern County. On December 31 the company's land holdings totalled 285,597 acres. It owned, at the beginning of the year, 11 miles of trunk pipe lines and 221 miles of gathering lines with crude and refined storage facilities for 19,000,000 barrels. The capacity of the pipe line system is about 900 barrels maximum and a normal of about 60,000 barrels.

The Chapman well, which the company owns, was recently drilled in virgin territory of Orange county on March 11, produced 800,000 barrels of oil between that date and January 1. It is now producing at a rate of about 900,000 barrels daily.

The man's real name is believed to be Jacob W. Horner. That was the signature on the note and the name he gave in drawing his pension.

That Horner wrote to his sister while en route to Los Angeles, became known from Capt. Hunter. In that letter she said that her brother told her everything and probably indicated that he intended to end his life. The sister's name was not made public.

James Charles Horner, of Fresno, took charge of the body after the inquest and arranged for its transportation to Los Angeles. The will and other papers found in Horner's coat pocket.

REVELLER MYSTERY.

The authorities think that the prisoner succeeded in secreting the revolver before he left Washington.

Robert Gillespie, 38 years of age, an inspector for the City Health Department, living at 142 Miles street was painfully injured yesterday when his automobile collided with a street car at Evergreen and Fairmont streets.

Capt. Hunter said that when the prisoner was turned over to the Washington police, he didn't search him because he took it for granted the man had no weapons.

He was arrested, and all weapons removed, as is customary in all police departments.

How "Horner" got the gun, he did not know, but he declared Capt. Hunter denied that "Horner" killed himself with his (Hunter's) revolver, which was left under the pillow in the compartment when he went to the wash-room.

HOLMES FUNERAL.

The funeral of Frank H. Holmes, 529 Harrison street, who died of heart failure last Friday, will be held this morning at 10 o'clock at Pierce Brothers' undertaking rooms.

Mr. Holmes was 79 years old April. He had been a resident of Los Angeles for nearly 40 years and had a wide circle of friends here.

Before coming here he was actively identified with business and financial interests in Minneapolis. He was a widower.

He leaves a wife, a brother, Herbert Holmes of Portland, Ore., and a sister, Mrs. Henrietta A. Darling of Minneapolis.

CHURCH DEFENDS OUSTED POLICE.

South Park Christian Board Urges that Officers be Reinstated.

The eleven officers ousted recently from the police department are defended and their reinstatement urged in resolutions adopted unanimously at a special meeting of the official board of the South Park Christian Church of which Rev. Bruce Brown is pastor. The plea addressed to the Mayor and to the Civil Service Commissioners is signed by C. Johnstone, chairman, and M. F. Jackson, secretary. It says:

"Whereas, it has been our pleasure to know a few of these men in question, and firmly believing in their honesty and good citizenship, and that they are the kind of men that should represent the good people of this city in the police department, we do earnestly request that Your Honor and the Honorable Civil Service Commission use your good offices in restoring them to their positions as has been the custom of the Civil Service in past years."

"HOMER'S" DUAL LIFE REVEALED.

Careful Plan of Suicide is Based of Inquest.

Way Gem Swindler Got the Weapon Remains Mystery.

Will Found in Pocket with Insurance Policies.

The mystery surrounding the means by which "Dr. J. Wesley Homer" obtained the revolver with which he ended his life at the train on which he was being brought here from Washington, D. C., entered Colton Sunday morning, while driving her delivery truck near the bandit, who was a Mexican, held up the delivery girl for the Mickelson and Jensen Grocery Company of 1954 East First street, yesterday was the victim of a daylight highwayman while driving her delivery truck near Brooklyn avenue.

The bandit, who was a Mexican, held up the delivery girl at the point of a large revolver and after making her get down from her seat on the truck robbed her of $40 in cash.

According to Miss Faust, the bandit did not attempt to harm her after securing her money.

Detectives from Boyle Heights Police Station, who rushed to the scene of the hold-up when notified by telephone, discovered that the GIRL HELD UP IN DAYLIGHT.

Helen Faust, 20 years of age, delivery girl for the Mickelson and Jensen Grocery Company of 1954 East First street, yesterday was the victim of a daylight highwayman while driving her delivery truck near Brooklyn avenue.

The bandit had laid in wait in some bushes near the road. A search of the neighborhood by scores of detectives failed to show any trace of the bandit. The police believe that the highwayman was a member of the gang that they are investigating and that he was known to the bandit.

According to Miss Faust, the bandit, wearing a mask over his face, sprang to the middle of the road from behind some bushes and shot her in the back.

He then told her to get out of the car and leave the scene. He then demanded all her money after ordering her to the road. After securing the cash the bandit sprang into the bushes and escaped.

The police secured a complete description of the bandit and all officers in the city were instructed to keep a close watch for him.

According to Miss Faust the bandit had a pistol in his hand, wearing a mask over his face, sprang to the middle of the road from behind some bushes and shot her in the back.

He then told her to get out of the car and leave the scene. He then demanded all her money after ordering her to the road. After securing the cash the bandit sprang into the bushes and escaped.
